The Reiswig Seventh-day Adventist Cemetery

Preface

The Seventh-day Adventist Church at this site was started on April 9, 1882. A sod church building was built in the summer of 1882 on Philipp Reiswig's property, on the banks of the James River. Others tell us that the sod church was replaced with a lumber church. I have called this the Reiswig Seventh-day Adventist Church & Cemetery after the person who donated the land, and to distinguish it from the Seventh-day Adventist Cemetery six miles to the north, the Suelzle Seventh-Day Adventist Cemetery. Previously this Church was referred to as the Milltown Seventh-day Adventist Church, because it was located in, what was then called, the South East Part of Milltown Township.

We believe that one of the first people buried here was Philipp's wife, Catharina (Kaftan) Reiswig, and it may be that it was her death that prompted Philipp to donate part of his land for a church and cemetery.

To our knowledge, the only two Seventh-day Adventist Congregations in Hutchinson County, South Dakota were the Reiswig Congregation, in the Wittenberg North Township of Hutchinson County, and the Suelzle Congregation, in the Clayton Township of Hutchinson County. We have been told that the two congregations used to attend each other's church services, when the weather permitted, on an every other week schedule. This explains the marriages between members of both congregations that began in the mid 1880's.

In 1897 and 1898, many of the congregation of the Reiswig Seventh-day Adventist Church immigrated to the new homestead territories in North Dakota. Most of the descendants of Philipp Reiswig moved to Lincoln Township, Sheridan County, North Dakota. After 1900, a number of families from the Suelzle Seventh-day Adventist congregation joined the Reiswigs in North Dakota.

As a descendant of Philipp and Catharina (Kaftan) Reiswig, I decided to write about this cemetery and those who were likely buried here, even though we have no hard evidence of their burials. I believe it is more appropriate to remember these pioneers, than to forget that they lived and died here.

On Saturday February 18, 2012 a group of people searched for and found both the Reiswig Seventh-day Adventist Church foundation and the adjoining cemetery to the north of the church. The cemetery is bounded on the north and west sides by 130 year old cedar trees. On the east it is bounded by the old road (the present road was moved to the east some time in the past). The north boundary of the cemetery is the church.

The people who were there, and contributed each of their expertises, were Dan Flyger, Norman Hoffer, John Kelly, Del Mutchelknaus, John Wipf, and Mike Wipf. Del had located what he thought was the church foundation about a week before. To all these, and to all the others who helped find this church and cemetery, I and my relatives thank you.
